DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is in response to communications filed April 8, 2005.

Election/Restrictions

2. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - A. Claim 1, drawn to creation of service using object oriented programming, classified in class 379, subclass 201.03.
 - B. Claim 2, drawn to database schema or data structure, classified in class 707, subclass 100.
 - C. Claim 3, drawn to computer network monitoring, classified in class 709, subclass 224.
3. Inventions A and B are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, invention A as claimed does not require the particulars of invention B as claimed because the details of the service topology database are not required by the method for modeling a high-level service claimed in the invention A. Therefore, the invention A does not rely upon the specific details of the invention B. The subcombination has separate utility such as for constructing database schema used in telecommunications network.

4. Inventions A and C are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, invention A as claimed does not require the particulars of invention C as claimed because the service planning unit comprising with a service simulation and testing section, a service deployment section, a service assurance section and a usage reporting section is not required by the method for modeling a high-level service claimed in the invention A. Therefore, the invention A does not rely upon the specific details of the invention C. The subcombination has separate utility such as for computer network monitoring.

5. Inventions B and C are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct if they do not overlap in scope and are not obvious variants, and if it is shown that at least one subcombination is separately usable. In the instant case, invention B has separate utility such as for constructing database schema used in telecommunications network. Invention C has separate utility such as for computer network monitoring. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

6. Because these inventions are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious burden on the examiner if restriction is not required because the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. A shortened statutory period for response to this action is set to expire 1 (one) month not less than 30 (thirty) days from the mail date of this letter. Failure to respond within the period for response will result in ABANDONMENT of the application (see 35 U.S.C 133, MPEP 710.02, 710.02(b)).
